DAUGHERTY BROS.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—Nat Collier, of Millerburg, recently purchased at a private price a fine Duroc gilt from J. K. Northcott, of Harrison county.

—The highest price ever paid for steers in the open market was reached Monday at Chicago when ten Angus yearlings for the Eastern trade were bought in at $12. The highest previous price was $11.05 on October 22.

—“An important factor in the high cost of living is the insect known as the ‘tick,’ which by attacking cattle in every part of the country is costing the people one hundred million dollars annually,” said Dr. Peter F. Rahnsen, State veterinarian of Georgia, in addressing the United States Livestock Sanitary Association.

—Henry Vallandigham, of Scott county, discovered a grass which he finds remarkably good for fattening milch cows and is cheaper than any other feed. It is called ‘million dollar’ grass, the seed of which he purchased in Wisconsin. In this section the grass attains a growth of about seven feet and can be cut three or four times a year. It makes about three tons per acre. The seed costs five dollars per hundred pounds and sows fifteen to twenty pounds to the acre.
